

Sarah Fox Beck

1850-1950 Centennial Biography

Sarah Fox Beck, born November 12, 1878, in Lehi, Utah, was the daughter of Isaac Wilson and Catherine S. Fox. She was the youngest daughter of a family of fourteen.

She married Alma Beck April 26, 1898, at Lehi. Later on April 3, 1930, they received their endowments in the Salt Lake Temple. She is the mother of five girls and three boys.

She was an active worker in the Relief Society, and for thirty years was visiting teacher. She served for eight years as First Assistant in the Third Ward Primary, then was called as Superintendent for eight years. On October 15, 1933, she was called to the Lehi Primary Stake Board. She was also the teacher of the Book of Mormon Class in the Lehi Third Ward Sunday School.

She had some great experiences in 1919, the time of the "Flu."

She is a Temple worker and a staunch believer of every principle of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.